Rubber Band Ligation

This is the usual treatment being undertaken by those who have small to medium sizes of the external kind. This procedure does not necessarily require the patient in order to check-in at the hospital since this is only an out-patient procedure. Rubber Band Ligation is a kind of treatment in which a small rubber band is being placed at the base of the affected area. The placement of a rubber in the said affected area cuts off circulation, restricting blood flow to the inflamed vein which helps to shrink it. At some point it will fall off within four to seven days after the Rubber Band Ligation.

Injection Sclerotherapy

Injecting certain chemical solution to the actual swollen tissue is also another method of treatment. Patients who are not really fond of needles have to withstand the sight and the feeling of being injected with needles at this time. Stated chemical solution contains something that can close the affected vein, disallowing blood vessels passage to the area. In this manner, it has the tendency to shrink and eventually heal.
